

A slam dunk
for your career

What impact will you make?
careers.deloitte.com

Making an impact that matters.

Our ambition is to do things that count every day. Our wide range of business activities – from Audit, Risk Advisory to Tax & Legal to Financial Advisory and Consulting – is a unique support for our customers. We set new standards, provide innovative approaches and facilitate sustainable growth. We support our highly qualified and talented employees, so that they achieve more with us.

Consultant (m/f/d) Deloitte Digital Ventures

As a Consultant you will:

- Identify new market and business opportunities for clients (incl. through human centered design techniques)
- Explore and analyze industries, markets and trends
- Assist in developing business plans, competitor analyses and financial business cases for new digital ventures or initiatives
- Create top management documents and deliverables to synthesize results
- Collaborate with software architects, web designers and developers to build impactful digital products and businesses
- Support interim management responsibilities in new ventures
- Grow the Deloitte Digital Ventures business by developing and implementing your own ideas

You definitely fit in our team if you:

- Hold a bachelor or master degree from one of the top universities in the world with exceptional academic records
- Have previously worked in strategy/management consulting and/or high-pressure start-ups and/or digital/strategy departments of high-profile corporates
- Have experience in strategy development, business planning, and economic modelling (preferred)
- Are an expert within the field of innovation and passionate about digitalization and technology-enabled business models
- Have an analytical and creative skillset
- Are fluent in written and verbal English

What you can expect from us:

Be part of our team – which brings business, creative, analytical and technological genius to the table every day – backed by Deloitte, the largest professional services firm in the world. Our flat organizational structure offers you the opportunity to report directly to senior leadership and emerge as a leader yourself by working with interdisciplinary teams. Enjoy the freedom to be able to initiate and work on projects you find interesting and important. Travel (inter)nationally and represent the Deloitte Digital Ventures culture with pride.

Are you interested?

Send us your application and tell us why you are an ideal candidate to join our team in either our Berlin or Munich office.

If you have any questions feel free to contact us.

We look forward to receiving your application.